Biographical information

Julian Jack Gates was born in Lonoke, Arkansas, on November 3, 1914, to David and Nettie Witherspoon Gates. His brothers were Lemuel Leon (1908-1971), David, and Meyer W. Gates attended the West Tennessee State Teachers College (now University of Memphis) from 1936 and after two-years training taught in a one-room school house in Widener, Arkansas, and then became principal of the Madison Public School. In 1940, he enlisted in the Army Air Force and, after flight training in Texas, was sent to the Philippines in June 1941 and assigned to the 20th Pursuit Squadron. Captured during the Japanese invasion in 1942, Second Lieutenant Gates survived the march from Bataan to Camp O’Donnell and was kept there and at the Cabanatuan prisoner of war camp until he was sent to Japan in November 1942. His first Japanese camp was Yodogawa, Osaka, and then he was sent to Zentsuji on Shikoku Island. He was in Rokuroshi Prison Camp, Fukui Prefecture, when the war ended and returned to the United States in October 1945.

After his discharge, Gates went into the lumber business and married Eula Mai Numa (1919-2014) of Memphis, whom he had met at the West Tennessee State Teachers College. The couple had two children: J. Jack, Jr., and Marilyn. Gates was commander of the Mid-South Chapter of the American Ex-Prisoners of War, and received the Memphis Senior Citizen of the Year award in 1986 for his work with various charity organizations. He died on September 14, 2001.

Scope and contents

The collection comprises correspondence, photographs, diaries, and a three-ring binder of laminated pages entitled “My Diary of Three and One Half Years As a Japanese P.O.W.” compiled by J. Jack Gates. Much of the correspondence relates to broadcasts made by Gates, or referring to him, while he was a prisoner of war in Japan in 1944. People who listened to the short wave radio broadcasts wrote letters to Gates’ family informing them of what information they had heard. Some made recordings of the broadcasts and sent those also. The most important materials in the collection are four notebooks and a Bible which Gates used as diaries to record his life as a prisoner of war.

The binder contains photographs and newspaper and magazine clippings, as well as copies of clippings, documenting Gates experience, including a transcription of the diaries. There is also a transcription of a report he and other officers made to the commanding general of the U.S. Army in Japan in August 1945 documenting their treatment in the prisoner of war camps. In addition, the binder contains a transcript of an interview with Gates which formed the basis of a 1993 article in the University of Memphis alumni magazine.
